

Arshinova Alena, Fellow-2009, Transnistria-Moldova

Political context - Deadlock

- No political common space for negotiations because of pro-Russian tendency on the side of Transnistria and pro-Romanian and pro-EU tendency on the side of Moldova.
- Dialogues are not systematic and do not have a certain framework.
- Two extreme positions on Transnistrian – Moldovan settlement;

Triangle of thoughts

GOAL

Introduce the idea of devolution into the debate and raise the issue of devolution by providing space for the debate.

TARGET GROUP

Direct beneficiaries:

- Youths,
- mid-class intelligentsia,
- NGOs.

Secondary target audience:

- Mass media

Activities/Outputs

- Awareness raising to promote the idea of devolution;
- Conferences and round-table discussions;
- Discussion clubs at schools, universities, colleges;
- Publication of Posters and calendars/brochure;
- Distribution of information through TV, radio, newspapers, internet based forums

Concept and Methods

The awareness raising stage includes the mobilization of information resources: agencies, newspapers, TV and Radio broadcasting about the devolution, as well as, large-scale conferences, round-tables with the participation of experts on devaluation from other countries with the practice of devolution, NGO and Party leaders, and ruling elite representatives.

Major Outcome

PROVISION OF A TRIANGLE

I.e. two extreme positions + a third dimension to serve as 'GOLDEN MIDDLE' and support the COMPROMISE and the idea of DEVOLUTION.
